Donovan--Artistic Tailor

Mrs. Geo. Lutz is entertaining her niece, Miss Wood, this week.

Jess Williams has closed out his feed store and gone west for his health.

Ohio Republican League meeting at Columbus February 12, half fare.

Mrs. Dr. Willige and Miss Carrie Tennant spent Sunday at Enterprise.

Half fare to Columbus February 11 and 12 good to return until Feb. 13th.

Columbus and return half fare February 11 and 12, good to return until 13th.

Mr. Joe Mattox has removed to Nelsonville. The Valley Journal occupies the room he vacated.

Mr. Jacob Reitenbach was taken suddenly sick with congestion of the brain on last Tuesday morning.

Mr. John Dougherty, one of the enterprising young business men of Baynesville was in our city Monday.

We are glad to see again on our streets Mr. M. D. Riley who for several months past has been quite sick.

Infirmary Director Buchanan, of Benton, has been spending several days in the city this week a witness in court.

Mr. Sleeper, of Athens, was professionally engaged in our court last week, the only foreign attorney here this term.

Mr. Raymond Bell gave a pleasant dinner party to a number of his personal friends at Delmonico's on last Thursday.

The two leap year dances last week were very enjoyable affairs and the young men are anxious that the fashion be kept up.

Col. Freisner went to New Lexington on Tuesday last to install the newly elected officers of the Masonic lodge at that place.

The cold weather of last week gave us nice ice. The ice factory is encouraged, the plentier the ice, the more will people use it.

Miss Martha Webb still continues in poor health but her friends have encouragement in the fortitude she displays in her painful affliction.

Mrs. James, an aged widow, died on last Saturday at the residence of her son on North Main street. Funeral Tuesday afternoon from M. E. church.

Judge Acker is a grandfather again. This time it is a son of Christ Jurgensmeyer, who joined the Democratic party at a Convention on last Wednesday night.

"Dearest my good gracious, near to me" sighed still as he saw his bitter foe, the McKay Journal establishing his fortifications nearly opposite the Post Office.

Mr. Mich Gear, the popular and accomplished salesman for Baskin & Wolinsky, is lying sick of typhoid fever at the residence of his brother-in-law, Josie Rochester.

The infant child of John Crow, on Main street, died on Monday from Diphtheria. The family has been sadly afflicted, the other children having passed through the scourge of scarlet fever.

Our popular jeweler, Nick Weiland, slipped on the ice yesterday morning sustaining a very painful hurt. The strain through did not prevent him from bringing the Sentinel a subscriber or does it interfere with him selling wedding rings.

Prof. McArthur of Marysville delivered an interesting lecture in the Court House last Thursday evening on the Keely treatment for drunkenness. The lecture was well attended and the wish of our people is that Prof. McArthur return again.

At the dance, ground hog eve, it was proposed to break the threat of the programme and diversify the French and Dutch swings and slides and circlings by a quadrilateral, entitled the "Keely Shot-uh." This innovation is given for the benefit of the cause.

The two entertainments at the opera house on Saturday and Wednesday evening were pleasant, enjoyable affairs. Mr. Whitcraft, the opera house manager is quite successful in securing for our entertainment shows above the average character.

Cap. Rufe Reber of ours has gone to Charleston, W. Va., and taken a position on the Tribune, the leading Republican paper of the capital city. We miss Rufe's pleasant company and our girls grieve in the chance they hoped the Leap Year customs would give. He and our girls and the girls he left behind him best wishes for luck and an early return visit.

Tony is mad. It is high time. The Republican papers of Gallipolis have gone so far as to call him a dude. There is not the shadow of a shade of Logan as light truth in this. Early is a worker. He is a man of the people, he wears his own made clothes. He is a statesman. He will be the next state printer and the state house occupants and the Gallipolis Calumniators will be glad to take from him their fashion.

Mr. R. D. Culver has resigned his position as cashier of the People's Bank and accepted the presidency of the Wabash Clay and Tile works near Indianapolis. Mr. Culver is one of our most intelligent, enterprising business young men and his departure from Logan is a loss much to be regretted. We bespeak for him a prosperous business, and pleasant surroundings.

The ground hog has met his match at last. While he was fooling round playing with his tail last Tuesday, and not thinking of his shadow, Squire Bill Green, president of the Liars Court dismissed his statement "less than on the gas." The ground hog couldn't see his shadow, he couldn't see anything. He is in a hole. The weather stays with us. All honor to our noble president Bill Green, he will get his second term without opposition.

WHAT IS THIS

Country Coming to There's Something in a Name.

We take the following from Tuesday's Cin. Com. Gazette.

"A warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of John Sherman, charging him with shooting with intent to kill. Although as yet no trace of him has been found, the police have not abandoned the pursuit, and Colonel Deitch is still hopeful."

This from the Columbus Sunday News:

Lewis Green, (col.) got drunk as usual last night and drove his wife out of the house, and then proceeded to break up the furniture. He was given ten days.

The Springfield Democrat has this local item:

John A. White got into a drunken fight Monday night in Frawley's saloon, and viciously knifed Pat Keenan. White is in jail.

The New York World of last Sunday says:

That local editor N. Johnston of the Times, was expelled from the Press Association for conduct unprofessional and unbecoming a gentleman.

The Cin. Telegraph of last week has this mention:

Special prayers were said last Sunday in the Cathedral for the repose of the soul of the late distinguished editor and churchman, Pursell.

This paralyzing paragraph from our Lancaster exchange:

"Noah Schwarz came into town yesterday complaining of the grippe. He at once prescribed for himself, and kept on repeating the dose, and finally attempted to carry off a bottle of whisky. He was sent to the Zanesville stone pile."

The Pomeroy Telegraph says:

"Charles Wright whose death on New Year's day was announced was premature. Charles is alive, and is the husband of two wives and father of four children."

This though takes the entire confectionery shop.

From the Columbus Press:

Ben H. Allen who was elected journal clerk of the House of Representatives, was asked to resign on account of his entire failure to do the work of his office. If he had not resigned, he would have been discharged."

Our Ben is let out from the fact that that other Ben is a republican and a nigger.

We have some more items of personal mention such as the above, but until Senator Abbott gets through with his Ferret matter, we will not pile up the agony and the necessity to him of having names changed.

Hurrah for Old Ireland, Ohio and Zanesville Schools.

Jas. P. Boyd the democrat elected governor of Nebraska, but refused his seat on the ground that he is an Irishman, and not a citizen of the United States, is Governor now.

The case went to the Supreme court and on Monday, the court decided that Boyd is the legal governor, and that Thayer, the usurping occupant, should step down and out.

The case is this: Boyd was born in Donegal where they eat the potatoes, and came to this country with his parents before he was 21 years of age. His father made application for naturalization but never secured all the requisite papers. Young Boyd when of age voted, held office, was a gallant soldier, and a worthy citizen. The democrats elected him governor of Nebraska, the first democratic governor of the state. His right to the seat was denied by the Republicans, and the incumbent held on.

Boyd was raised in Zanesville, and along with a lot of other little Irish lads from the Second ward bottom went to school at the time Chandler and Southard and Outhwaite and Green and Small, and others in the early sixties were teaching the boys, of that good old town how to be good and how to become great. Had the Nebraska Republicans known the Irish lad had come from Ohio and was schooled in Zanesville, they would not have been so foolish as to oppose him.

But bad boy Jim Boyd is governor, and we are proud and glad of it. And so too we venture are Will Maginnis, Bill Crawley, Bob Taggart, Lloyd Buckmaster, John Sullivan, Lew Dennis, Javy McMan, Phil Cullenan and the balance of that gang.

Senator Geyer of Paulding was the guest of Representative Price in Logan, last week.

Senator Gear of Wyandot, was in our city on Sunday, visiting his brother Mich.

Geyer and Gear and Shaw of Auglaize constitute a democratic triumvirate of whom their magnificent constituency have just reason to be proud. The young men are brilliant, active, able and democratic. They each represent districts more populous than either of the Dakotas or Wyoming.

It pleases us to know that like the Hillicans of Hocking, they are enthusiastic Hill-ites.

Mrs. Noonan, who has been sick for some time, is slowly improving.

—Cap Bowen is in Columbus this week, visiting his son Charley who is in very poor health.

Mr. Will Davey of the Columbus Journal is in the city, called by the death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. D. Finnebrook.

Mr. Sam Appleman, residing on the Avenue, sustained a stroke of paralysis on yesterday morning. His left side is paralyzed.

Bruce Dolison of the Sentinel left for Zanesville last Tuesday where he will take a business course in the Commercial College in that city.

Frank Blasius & Son issue an "ultimatum" not at Chili but at high prices, and unfashionable goods. Read the advertisement and learn all about the situation.

—In all seriousness, we ask friend Whitcraft, Manager of the Opera House, what he thinks of the Cantatta for the children on last Tuesday evening.

Miss Ida Armstrong, of north Walnut street, gave a taffy pulling party to her young lady friends on last Thursday evening. The company was exclusively girls. It was a very sweet affair.

Dr. G. R. Coler, of the Ohio State University, will deliver the last lecture of the course on February 12, 1892. Dr. Coler's subject will be: "Some problems and their solutions." The place will be announced later.

Mr. Soule Bennett of Kintanung, and the honored president of the National Association of fourth class Post Masters, was in the City this week, a witness in the Price Shooting Case.

The many friends of R. W. Keynes, who has been sick for several months, will be glad to learn that he is improving, and gives promise of soon being able to be out and about again.

The Ladies of the W. C. T. U. center place starting a Reading room in the near future and earnestly desire the patronage of the public in helping to furnish it with reading matter. Committee will call on you in a few days.

W. C. T. U. Press Com.

There is a rumor that the cause of the cold snap following the G. H. in the sight of his shadow is caused from a mortal fright at seeing Davenport's stomach. It is thought the garment is scared to death. If so that will be another argument in favor of Ed's pension.

Persons suffering with the grip should call a John Slisher's sample room and try "Gibson Rye" not only the finest whisky in the land but a cure for grip. In connection with his sample room Mr. Slisher has four of the finest blended tables made and persons so inclined can find no pleasanter place to while away a half hour. Wines, liquors, cigars, etc. always on hand.

—Mrs. D. Frinnebrook died of Consumption at her home in Logan on last Friday evening.

Her funeral was from the residence on last Monday afternoon, Rev. Locock of the M. E. Church conducting the religious exercises.

Joe Kessler has a reputation at home and abroad as being the best skilled server of oysters in the city. He keeps the best brand of oysters and he knows exactly how to serve them for his customers. His side board is supplied with all the best liquors the market affords.

Hon. M. A. Daugherty, one of the prominent young attorneys of Lancaster was in the city yesterday on business before the Probate Court. Mike is the most powerful lawyer in the circuit and his hat is too big, even for an able editor.

Death of Aaron Price.

Mr. Aaron Price, after a long and painful illness, borne with christian resignation and fortitude, died on yesterday (Wednesday) morning. Funeral Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Obituary next week.

The War That Wasn't.

There is no war with Chili. There never was an occasion for war. It was all blow and blather, and the administration to get up an excitement and make a Republican boom for the coming election. The case is this:

Some American sailors got into a fight with the citizens and officials in Valpariso. The sailors who are unjustly charged with being excessively hilarious, resisted the officers and a street fight resulted. The howl for blood was raised by the old rebel brigadiers in congress and the Republican Home guard. Chili made an investigation of the affairs, and when the courts came to a conclusion, that government made an apology, and offered to pay an indemnity of such as our Supreme Court might determine to be just. If there had been cause for war, the cause existed from the start, and war should have been declared at once. But there was no cause. The Harrison administration knew it, but to get up a big pretend and turkey gobler strut, we have had all this fuss and feathers and foolery.

The government of the United States has been made a laughing stock of the civilized world. Grandfather's hat should be rubbed and put in a box.

THE PENITENTIARY.

Col Rempel, of the Board of Managers, Resigns, and the Resignations of Other Members of the Board Expected.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 2.—(Special)

The rumor that Colonel Rempel, one of the Board of managers of the Penitentiary, had offered his resignation to Governor McKinley, proves to be true. While the Governor has not asked the members of the Board to resign it has been intimated to them that their places are wanted. Governor McKinley feels that the trustees of those public institutions in which there have been scandals during the past administration should save trouble by resigning. The Legislature owes it to the state to put these institutions in better hands, and such a course on the part of the trustees would save them the humiliation of being thrown out.

Attempt to Break Out of the Penitentiary.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 1.—Warren Dyer frustrated the plans of 12 prisoners to escape from the Ohio penitentiary last night. The men had dug a tunnel to within 20 feet of the outer wall, in which they had placed several suits of citizens clothes.

Wm. Walk, a burglar, was the ringleader. He has confessed, saying that he and his fellow prisoners were to have made a break for liberty at the first opportunity. It is believed that a foreman in one of the shops is implicated. A prisoner who had been offered a chance to go with the gang gave the plans away.

It is thought the old reprobate, Blackburn, in the penitentiary for the burglary of old man Krinn is a ringleader in the scheme. He escaped once before by crawling under the walls through a sewer.

Burglary of Guthrie's Store.

On last Friday night Guthrie's store was burglarized. An entrance was effected through a window in the rear, using an iron bar which Mike Whalen, a section man identifies as belonging to his kit of tools. An attempt was made to open the safe. A hole was bored near the lock, but not to a depth to admit explosives. Two shoes, not mates were taken, and a few dollars in money from the drawer. It is suspected that "home talent," the same gang that has committed similar depredations heretofore, are the guilty parties. Tarrant officer Gage thinks he has a clew from the shoes taken, one being a No. six and the other a No. nine.

It is earnestly hoped the rascals will be discovered, and brought to punishment.

Found Guilty of Assault With Intent To Kill.

The court was occupied Tuesday and Wednesday with the trial of Price for attempting to kill Keyser at Kintanning.

The case briefly is this: The two men got into an altercation. Price drew a revolver, cocked it, rushed at Keyser saying, with an oath, "I will kill you." The discharge of the pistol was averted by outsiders.

The Jury after being out ten hours returned a verdict of guilty. Judge Huffman sentenced him to the Pen for seven years. Mr. Baehaus assisted the Prosecuting Attorney, Messrs Lowry and Hansen were for the defense. The case was ably tried.

AN ATTEMPT AT MURDER.

A woman named Billvers, from Kintanning, was lodged in jail yesterday, charged with attempting to kill with a knife her fourteen year old step daughter.

Her husband is the prosecuting witness. It is said she has tried to kill her husband.

Good Coal Cheap.

I will supply the Logan trade with a first class quality coal. At the following prices delivered in coal houses:

100 bushels at 61 cents per bushel. Single load 64 cents.

Orders left at E. T. Bakers tin shop, West Main street, will receive prompt attention or a postal note for a car at Gore.

W. M. SHINGLER.

Notice to Teachers.

There will be a teachers meeting held at Logan, on February 13, 1892, at which time the following prominent educators will deliver lectures, viz: Pres. T. J. Sanders, Ph. D. of Oberlin University; subject, "The Unconscious in Education" and Dr. G. P. Coler, of Ohio State University. Dr. Coler's subject has not been announced, but there is every reason to believe that he will have something practical and that every teacher who is interested in his work will go away with new inspiration and higher aspiration. These men come to us highly recommended and we as teachers can not afford to miss hearing them. Every teacher in Hocking county should be present at this important meeting. Come and bring your directors and friends with you. The citizens are cordially invited to be present. Place, high school room, time, 1:30 p.m. By order of Committee.

A Card of Thanks

I desire to return thanks to many kind friends who gave comfort and sympathy during the long illness of my mother, and after her death.

JOHN A. JAMES.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. D. Frinnebrook and family desire to return thanks to friends and neighbors for kind attention during the long, late sickness of wife and mother. The clouds over home are silver lined by the sympathy and comfort of loving and also sorrowing friends.

Agricultural Society Election.

At a meeting of the Board of Agriculture of Hocking county held on last Saturday the following officers were elected:

President, W. W. McDonald; Vice President, George Marks; Directors, L. H. Wolfe, W. N. England, Wm. D. Brandt, J. A. Shaw, and Sam St. Clair.

THIS IS BUSINESS.

Tom Shotwell proposes, if the Council will give him the privilege of placing posts on the streets, not to inconvenience travel or traffic, to furnish electric light to the persons desiring it, inside of thirty days.

There need be no argument about this, let the council at once, tell Tom Shotwell to go ahead.

Free Pass To The World's Fair.

We are making up a train load for Chicago in 1893, and we want you to come and go with us. Remember, we have said it shall cost you nothing to go and come. We will present you with a first class round trip ticket, free of charge. The only consideration is, that you pay your goods at Our Store.

A Fatal Mistake.

Physicians make no more fatal mistake than when they inform patients that nervous heart troubles come from the stomach and are of little consequence. Dr. Frank J. Miles, the noted Indiana specialist, has proven the contrary in his new book on "Heart Disease," which may be had at Miller & Co's free, who guarantee and recommend Dr. Miles' unequalled New Heart Cure, which has the largest sale of any heart remedy in the world. It cures nervous and organic heart disease, short breath, loss of sleep or tenderness in the side, arm or shoulder, irregular pulse, fainting, dizzying, drooping, etc. Its remedial service cures heartache, &c.

A TRUE GHOST STORY.

Two Lively Young Folks Make a Great Discovery.

About a mile beyond the Beech Hill stood Squire Macdonald's store, and one dreary night in late autumn there came thither first Rory O'More, and then Steady Big John, and finally Alec Gillies, all in a high state of excitement and asserting with much positiveness that they had seen the ghost on Beech Hill. Now the square was a shanty, hard-headed, and unsuspicious a Scotchman as ever traded tea for butter or sugar for eggs, and he had no more faith in the Beech Hill ghost than in the man in the moon.

But this time the testimony of the terrified witnesses happened to agree remarkably. The ghost had appeared to all in precisely the same form, namely, as white shapeless thing that rolled along the ground, uttering shrill and threatening shrieks. The matter was surely worth looking into.

"Hark ye, now," said the square at last, "believe me nothing better than a parcel of foolish boys; and to prove it I'll go up to the Beech Hill myself and see what it is that has come so high scaring the life out of you."

Thus speaking, he got his coat and hat, and calling them to follow, set off for the scene of the ghost's walk.

Rory and Steady and Alec would much rather have been excused, but pride overcame their timidity, and they followed in their leader's track. Hardly had they reached the foot of the hill than the shrieks they had heard before came to their ears.

"This is a ghost!" exclaimed Rory, with trembling lips. "Can you hear it, square?"

"To be sure I can," responded the square, stoutly, "and I'm going to see what it is. Come along."

The distance between the doughty square and his followers increased as he went on while the shrieks grew stronger with each forward step.

When about the middle of the ascent he saw the ghost. It was as the men had reported, a white shapeless thing rolling upon the ground, and from it undoubtedly came the piercing cries which had proved so alarming.

Going straight up to the thing, the square touched it with his foot, then bent down to feel it with his hand, and then burst into a roar of laughter.

"What is it, square?" cried the three farmers almost as much as the ghost's shrieks.

"Come here, you fools!" he shouted. "Come and see what your ghost is."

In a hesitating way they drew near, and examined the cause of their fright. It was a white mail bag containing two very lively young pigs, which had in some way fallen off a farmer's wagon into the middle of the road, there to prove a source of terror to the superstitious and perhaps not altogether sober passers-by.—Harper's Young People.

HOW TO READ MEN.

By Means of Palmistry, Hand Shapes, Fingers, Nostrils and Nose.

Those learned in palmistry and kindred sciences told us that when we grasp a man's hand, we can read his mind, and that the soft and firm to the touch hand is only possessed by an honest man. They also assert that a thick, hard hand is a sure sign of obstinacy and conceit in its owner. They tell you that long fingered, double jointed people cannot be sincere if they try.

Another authority advises: "If you want to know what sort of a person you are examine your nose critically in the glass. People of fearless disposition usually have a straight nose. The fiercer animals have dilated nostrils. The drooping nostril shows histrionic talent. If the nose also droops it denotes a tragic power, and if only the nostrils are dilated, it is marked for the interpretation of comedy. When the nose is thin at the bridge it shows generosity, while a nose that is thick at the bridge argues acquisitiveness. When it is 'tip tilted' like the petal of a flower' the person is inquisitive. A projecting nose argues a disposition to investigate. It is ahead of the person, as it were, and wants to scent out things.—Boston Commercial.

Abnormal Lung.

"Athletic lung" is a medical term used to designate the abnormal development of lung possessed by some athletes. The condition is produced by those forms of exercise that call for the constant use of the lungs at their highest power. The result is an enormous development of lung capacity. Such men, upon giving up their active athletics and taking to sedentary pursuits, are peculiarly subject to pulmonary complaints. The overdeveloped lung is only used in part, and the unused cells easily fall a prey to disease when once an athletic lung has been reduced to health. The wise physician forbids any violent athletics on the part of the patient, for a second attack is likely to be followed by a collapse. The term
